THE NETHERLANDS – SERBIA

NATIONS LEAGUE

PHILIPS STADIUM, EINDHOVEN

NOTHING LIKE ORANGE

MEET ORANJE

It all started on 30 April 1905, when the Netherlands played their very first international match away against Belgium. And what a start it was. After a dramatic game went into extra time, Eddy de Neve became the hero of the day by scoring all four Dutch goals in a 4–1 victory.

More than 120 years later, Oranje has grown into one of the most recognisable national teams in world football.

The Oranje Legion

Around 800 spectators watched that first international in 1905. Today, millions follow Oranje wherever they play.

Home matches regularly sell out, while major tournaments turn the entire country orange. Streets, squares and stadiums fill with fans in orange shirts, hats and – occasionally – outfits that are difficult to explain.

Dutch fans are famous for bringing colour, noise and a positive atmosphere. At home and abroad, the Oranje Legion travels in huge numbers, creating the sea of orange that has become known around the world.

So if you see orange taking over the city on matchday, you know what's happening: Oranje is in town.

HISTORY

The Netherlands and Serbia meet again shortly after their match in Belgrade on 27 September. That match will be the first-ever meeting between the two countries, meaning this fixture in the Netherlands will be the second encounter.

With both sides already familiar with each other, another interesting international fixture awaits.
